

The Final Countdown – Mark of the Beast Part 3

“One day this blonde lady had finally had enough. I have no idea who she is, just use your imagination. But anyway, she was tired of everyone assuming that she wasn’t very smart just because of hair color. So she decided to do something about it. She went to the hairdresser and had her hair dyed brown.

And as she walked out of the beauty salon, she was feeling quite proud of her new look so she decided to go for a drive in the country. Well after she drove for awhile she suddenly came upon a shepherd.

And she thought this was a perfect opportunity to test out her new look and demonstrate her intelligence. So she walked over to the shepherd and asked, ‘If I can guess how many sheep you have, can I take one for a reward?’

Well, the shepherd thought for sure that this lady could never guess the exact number of sheep he had, so he took her bet and let her try. But to his surprise, amazingly she guessed 98, the exact number of sheep he owned.

So feeling rather good about herself, the lady picks up her reward and starts walking back to her car. But before she got to the car, the shepherd tapped her on the shoulder and said, ‘Hey lady, if I can guess your natural hair color, can I have my dog back?’”

And how many people volunteered for the Preacher to get a ride home? But that’s right folks, how many of you guys would say the obvious point with that joke is this. That lady, whoever she was, had a problem recognizing things that were right in front of her, right? And believe it or not folks, she’s not alone! Did you know the people around the planet of all different kinds of hair color are doing the same thing! Yeah! They can’t seem to recognize, right on front of them, that we’re really living in the Last Days! And because of this folks, the Bible is clear. They are running the risk of being thrust into the Antichrist's kingdom, and you don't want to be there. And that begins of course at the rapture of the Church! And folks, the reason why it's going to be such a horrible time is because for those who refuse to accept Jesus Christ as their Personal Lord and Savior they'll be catapulted into the 7-year Tribulation and its not a joke! Again, it's an outpouring of God's wrath on a wicked & rebellious planet! In fact Jesus said in Matthew 24 it's going to be a "time of greater horror than anything the world has ever seen or will ever see again. And that "unless that time of calamity is shortened, the entire human race will be destroyed." But praise God, God's not only a God of wrath, He's a God of love as well. And because He loves you and I, He's given us many warning signs to show us when the Tribulation was near and when Jesus Christ's 2nd Coming was rapidly approaching.

Therefore, in order to keep you and I here at Sunrise from experiencing the ultimate bad day of being left behind, even worse than stealing other people's dogs with unnatural hair color, we're going to continue in our series The Final Countdown. And so far we've seen how the Prophet Jon has shared with us how the #10 sign on The Final Countdown was The Jewish People. The #9 sign was Modern Technology. The #8 sign was Worldwide Upheaval. The #7 sign was The Rise of Falsehood. The #6 sign was The Rise of Wickedness. The #5 sign was The Rise of Apostasy. The #4 sign was The Rise of A One World Religion. The #3 sign was The Rise of A One World Government. The #2 sign was The Rise of A One World Economy. And the last 2 times we saw how the #1 sign was The Mark of the Beast. And what we saw there was that God lovingly foretold you and I that when we see all the nations of the world promoting some sort of Marking System to be put into people's bodies that will link them to a global matrix system that will control all the buying and selling on the planet, uh, it's a sign you're living in the last Days! And we saw it's happening now with the Conditioning proof, where we're being conditioned right now to receive the Mark of the Beast through the Media, through the Matrix their building, the Internet, the Quotations, and last time through the Biometric System they're pushing! And they not only have right now the databases monitoring what we buy and sell, but for the first time in man's history we're seeing people using their body parts, biometrics, to buy and sell. And on top of that, it just happens to be the right hand or forehead! Gee, where have I heard that before?

But that's still not all. The 5th way we're being conditioned right now to receive the actual Mark of the Beast is the Convenience Proof. You see folks, the Bible is clear. You can expect to see in the Last Days not only a “push” for the Mark of the Beast, with this Biometric stuff, your body parts, but you can expect that people are going to somehow be “conditioned” to think that this is an awesome thing to do! And one of the biggest ways they’re doing that, is by selling this Mark of the Beast Systems as a convenience. And hey, who doesn’t want a little convenience in their life, right? And the problem is folks, it’s one thing to fall for this tactic, but it’s another thing to not understand its significance. You see, like that blonde lady, we too here today, just can’t seem to interpret this as an obvious sign from God, that we’re living in the Last Days. But don’t worry, this same attitude it happened at Jesus’ First Coming. But don’t take my word for it.

Let’s listen to His.

Luke 12:54-56 “He said to the crowd: ‘When you see a cloud rising in the west, immediately you say, ‘It’s going to rain,’ and it does. And when the south wind blows, you say, ‘It’s going to be hot,’ and it is. Hypocrites! You know how to interpret the appearance of the earth and the sky. How is it that you don’t know how to interpret this present time?’”

In other words, Jesus is saying here, “I am standing right in the midst of you and I’ve already done all these miracles right in front of you guys, I’ve demonstrated that I really am God in the flesh, and I’ve fulfilled tons of Old Testament prophecies showing I really am the Messiah, and you still don’t get it? And then you have the audacity to say you need more proof?”

What?” And what does Jesus say about these people and their skeptical attitude towards His First Coming? “You hypocrites,” right? He says, “You don’t need that much information to make a decision about the goofball weather.” In fact, He says, “With just a minimal amount of evidence, one simple fact, you make confident conclusion about the weather. You do it all the time. You don’t require a lot of information to make that prediction. You don’t need a TV weather guy. You don’t need a Doppler radar. You don’t need the Internet. You don’t even need satellites. You just look over here and you see a dark cloud coming off the sea and you say, ‘Hey, it’s going to rain.’ And you know what? You’re right. That’s how it works. It turns out that way.” In other words, with only a minimal amount of evidence you draw a confident conclusion about the weather, but when the actual evidence of the Messiah’s actual coming is staring at you right in the face, you still don’t get it! And that tells us their real problem was not a lack of information, it’s just they didn’t want to get it! And so Jesus calls them hypocrite! In fact, this isn’t the first time Jesus used this word hypocrite. He used it repeatedly over and over again in Matthew 23, which is right before Matthew 24, the classic passage dealing with His Second Coming.

Matthew 23:13 “Woe to you, teachers of the law and Pharisees, you hypocrites! You shut the kingdom of heaven in men’s faces. You yourselves do not enter, nor will you let those enter who are trying to.”

Matthew 23:14 “Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites, because you devour widows’ houses, and for a pretense you make long prayers; therefore you will receive greater condemnation.”

Matthew 23:15 “Woe to you, teachers of the law and Pharisees, you hypocrites! You travel over land and sea to win a single convert, and when he becomes one, you make him twice as much a son of hell as you are.”

Matthew 23:16-17 “Woe to you, blind guides! You say, ‘If anyone swears by the temple, it means nothing; but if anyone swears by the gold of the temple, he is bound by his oath.’ You blind fools! Which is greater: the gold, or the temple that makes the gold sacred?”

Matthew 23:23-24 “Woe to you, teachers of the law and Pharisees, you hypocrites! You give a tenth of your spices – mint, dill and cummin. But you have neglected the more important matters of the law – justice, mercy and faithfulness. You should have practiced the latter, without neglecting the former. You blind guides! You strain out a gnat but swallow a camel.”

Matthew 23:25-26 “Woe to you, teachers of the law and Pharisees, you hypocrites! You clean the outside of the cup and dish, but inside they are full of greed and self-indulgence. Blind Pharisee! First clean the inside of the cup and dish, and then the outside also will be clean.”

Matthew 23:27-28 “Woe to you, teachers of the law and Pharisees, you hypocrites! You are like whitewashed tombs, which look beautiful on the outside but on the inside are full of dead men’s bones and everything unclean. In the same way, on the outside you appear to people as righteous but on the inside you are full of hypocrisy and wickedness.”

Matthew 23:29-34 “Woe to you, teachers of the law and Pharisees, you hypocrites! You build tombs for the prophets and decorate the graves of the righteous. And you say, ‘If we had lived in the days of our forefathers, we would not have taken part with them in shedding the blood of the prophets.’ So you testify against yourselves that you are the descendants of those who murdered the prophets. Fill up, then, the measure of the sin of your forefathers! You snakes! You brood of vipers! How will you escape being condemned to hell? Therefore I am sending you prophets and wise men and teachers. Some of them you will kill and crucify; others you will flog in your synagogues and pursue from town to town.”

In other words, Jesus says, “You didn’t want to hear the truth of His First coming, and when I send you in the future faithful Prophets to proclaim My Second Coming, you’re not going to hear it either! In fact, just like the First Time, you’re going to kill and try to shut up the messenger the Second Time!” And folks, it is my contention that this same hypocrisy demonstrated by the people of Jesus day during His First Coming, is the exact same thing we’re seeing today with His Second Coming! People are trying to kill the messenger! Shut him up! Don’t confuse me with the facts! I don’t want to hear this! And yet Jesus would say, “You hypocrites!” You can interpret the weather with a tiny little bit of information, and yet, out of love, I send faithful men to you to give you a ton of information about My next coming, which you should be excited about, so you won’t be caught off guard, and you either assassinate them or hide behind the accusation that you don’t have enough proof. Excuse me? Folks, I say this every week! How much more proof do we need? What more does God have to do to get our attention today? How much more information does He have to give us show us we’re living in the Last Days? Jesus Christ is about ready to come back! His Second Coming is approaching! Especially with this sign here of the Mark of the Beast! We’ve already seen, again, how they’re pushing it with the Media, the Matrix, the Quotations, the Biometrics, and if that wasn’t enough, they're packaging it all up right now and selling it to us under the guise of Convenience so we'll hurry up and accept it now? It's that close folks! But don't take my word for it, let's look at the proof!

The 1st way we know we're being conditioned to receive the actual Mark of the Beast under the guise of Convenience is the Pampered Proof. I mean, come on folks, haven't you heard? I mean, who wouldn't want to get a chip, right? I mean, that would be convenient. If you would just get one, right now, your very own biometric implant, you would bring such great comforts to your life, beyond your wildest dreams! What's a biometric implant you ask? Well, thanks for asking Wally. A biometric implant is a tiny little chip about the size of a grain of rice that is implanted just beneath your skin. And it's benefits are that it can't be stolen and you can't lose it, because it's implanted inside your body which means it's with you wherever you go. Isn't that great? Isn't that convenient? And that right, for those of you who still might be a little bit squeamish, don't worry. It's already been approved by the FDA back in 2002. And we all know we can trust the Government with our lives. Yeah right! But that's right, don't listen to me, let's look at the facts. Let's see just how much our lives will become pampered if we'd only receive the biometric implant!

IMPLANTS WILL MAKE US MORE PAMPERED

- You can have tiny cell phones implanted into your bikinis.
- You can have T-shirts implanted with Internet links.
- You can have an implant in your clothes that will tell you what clothes (shirt, tie, blouse, etc.) goes with what.
- You can have an implant in your makeup to see what you'd look like before you put it on when you look in the mirror.
- You can have implants that act like "intelligent shopping agents" who will know everything about you from personal quirks to shoe size and will search instantly anywhere in the world via the Internet to find you the best deal.
- You can have implants in your house to customize anything from the temperature to even background music.
- You can have an implant in your jacket to allow you to switch on the TV, check you phone messages, or even tell the oven to start cooking a meal.
- You can have an implant in your refrigerator to tell you when you're out of food and automatically order it for you from the store!
- Or for those of you who still want to go to the store, if you get an implant, you could breeze through store and the check out lane without ever having to pull out a wallet, especially when those unexpected guests come over! "Grandma" is sitting in her rocker knitting. Phone rings. Grandma picks up the phone.

Grandma: Hello?

Grandchild: Hi Grandma! We're gonna come over for dinner <laughs>
Right now!

Grandma panics as she looks at a picture of her huge family. Grandma jumps out of her rocking chair.

Grandma is now seen running up and down aisle of the grocery store throwing various food items into her shopping cart. She is next seen standing with a fully loaded cart near the check out. She observes a pretty young women walk through a scanner without unloading her cart. Grandma looks to the left and smiles at an elderly man in the "old style" check out line.

"Grandpa" smiles back. They both continue to give several flirty smiles back and forth as Grandma without moving proceeds to push her cart away from her and entire cart of food gets scanned all at once.

Grandma looks back at the elderly man an shrugs walk and grabs her receipt and leaves the store. Grandpa looks down in sadness as he is still standing in line waiting with his one item.

Grandma is back home and plops back in her rocker and kicks her feet up.

- And even kids can get in on the action. You can have an implant in your candy bar to win free money.
- Or for those of you who want to be more health conscious and stay away from those candy bars, you can have an implant in your food to help you control and monitor your food intake and lose weight. It's called the smart plate!

Another part of this system is our Smart Plate. A plate that reads our food and works as an invisible diet management system. When a cupcake is placed on a plate, it is scanned by an RFID reader inside. The reader is programmed to monitor every product that is eaten from the plate. An LED light hidden under the veneer lights up to give a brief visual correspondent. Besides nutrition information like calories or fat, the user can also learn more about his food, about it's food miles or it's trading history. A Sushi roll could tell us about it's heritage and it's ingredients. For people with food allergies the Smart Plate can send hazard alerts about dangerous ingredients and stop us from eating things that may harm us.

This system aims to become the future medium between food intake and knowledge. It extracts data directly from food and creates a new perception of what we're going to eat.

- And for those of you who do not have a strong enough will to listen to your Smart Plate, you can also use this with another feature called, "The Permanent Companion." This computer interface will not only control your shopping list at home but even on the road. "It can act as a real body coach which helps consumers keep a healthy diet and lose weight by keeping an eye on your weight and calories, and suggesting recipes for suitable meals, and sending you an alert whether or not you can eat a little more or should start exercising."
- You can have implants in your car to access the Internet and/or pay for toll charges, gas, or even food at the Drive Thru, that is, if your Perfect Companion says it's okay!
- You can have an implant in your carrying bag to track you and help you avoid pedestrian traffic jams.
- You can have implants in your umbrellas to track your every move and let marketers know how well their advertising is doing.
- You can have tiny implants in your magazines so that publishers not only know how many people actually read their magazine, but even how long they spent reading the pages, if they skipped reading some of the pages, if they skipped some of the articles, whether to not they read it from front to back or back to front, and of course, if they looked at the advertisements in the magazine.
- You can have implants in television sets that eject artificial scents when different advertisements or scenes are viewed. (I told you watching TV smells!)
- You can have an implant in your fingertip that will transfer all your vital personal information with a handshake. (A digital authentication law has already been passed through Congress giving these "electronic signatures" the same legal status as writing your name on a document.)
- You can have an implant in your hand that will unlock your car, start your car, open up doors, log on to your computer and so much more like this guy!

Amal Graafstra: I wanted a more convenient way that made more sense to me to get into my office.

IT professional Amal Graafstra, describes himself as a implant hobbyist. A do-it-yourself microchipper. He had a Radio Frequency Identification device, or RFID, inserted into his hands. It's technology commonly used to identify dogs and cats.

Everyday after work, with the groceries in hand, I use it every day to get into the back door and it's better than fumbling around for keys.

Does it seem like a dramatic thing to undertake just to be able to get into the house?

Graafstra: For some, probably. But for me, when looking at it, you know I said, "Well it's just really moving that RFID card from my pant's pocket to a skin pocket."

It's not as far fetched as it sounds. Given that people are already willing to insert microchips into their hands.

And notice it just happens to be in the right hand! Shocker! Huh? If you'd just get a skin pocket implant, your life would be filled with such great comfort. I mean, wouldn't it be cool to have a microchip implant? Wouldn't that be convenient? And people, that's precisely what they want you to think! Getting you ready for the Mark of the Beast right now like this article shares.

"How'd you like to avoid waiting in lines for the rest of your life? Breeze through everywhere like you owned the place. Watch lights snap on, doors open automatically, money pop out of ATMs as you approach.

Never have to show an ID, buy a ticket, carry keys, remember a password. You'd leave stores loaded with packages and waltz right past the cashiers.

You wouldn't have to carry a wallet. Ever. Family and friends could find you instantly in any crowd.

These latest injectable devices have taken things a step further. What next? I approach my car, which knows who I am. The door swings open and the driver seat and steering wheel adjust to my usual settings, the radio starts to play my favorite station and a speech unit offers to navigate me to Heathrow.

As I board the plane, a sensor in the aircraft door activates the chip which tells the on-board flight system who I am. 'Welcome...seat 4a is ready for you. This flight is worth 450 air-miles.'

I arrive in New York and hire a car, which also recognizes me and adjusts accordingly. The hotel room unlocks and bills me as I enter. Room service arrives to stock the fridge with favorite...items plus the extras I usually order.

None of this is science fiction. All of this is possible using today's tools. It is just a question of connecting them together."

And to so-called "good news" is they already have! What are you waiting for?

But that's not all. The 2nd way we know we're being conditioned right now to receive the actual Mark of the Beast under the guise of Convenience is the Productive Proof. You see folks, if only you'd get an implant, it'd make your life so much more productive. Why, we would get a lot more done, and who wouldn't want to save more time? Let's take a look at that.

IMPLANTS WILL MAKE US MORE PRODUCTIVE

- You can have implants in your clothes that will talk with your washer so you don't have to. Simply load the clothes into the washer and the tag will do the rest of the work by telling the washer how it should be laundered.

- You can have implants on all manufactured items to create a self-managing intelligent supply chain all around the world! That really is their goal, to tag the whole world!

Matrics:

Piyush Sodha, CEO: Matrics is founded four years ago to revolutionize the RFID business.

Founders- Dr. William Bandy and Michael Arneson

Sodha: The acronym stands for Radio Frequency Identification. In our judgement, RFID, will be the single most significant enabling technology to the impact supply chain institution in the 21st century.

Tag the World:

Arneson: The idea being that each product has a serial number and ID and therefore, each item can then be uniquely identified. What we've done is essentially program a chip with a 112 bits of ID and Error Correction code, giving you 2 to the 96th power unique ID's (79,228 trillion trillion unique ID's) That will sequentially and uniquely ID every single product in the world.

- You can have an implant in your trash and trash bin to force people to recycle and fine them if they don't, and tax them based on how much garbage is thrown away.
- You can have an implant in your shoes to help you win a marathon.
- You can have implants for your employees to monitor their location, who their with, their timekeeping, efficiency and productivity.
- You can have another implant for your restaurant employees so that when they use the restroom it activates another implant in the washbasin to monitor whether or not they washed their hands and alert you if there's a need for disciplinary action.
- You can have an implant in your child's diaper to track their urinary health. It's called the "Smart Diaper."
- You can have an implant to connect you directly to your computer. But just be careful not to get a virus like this guy did.

Sky News

He is a real life cyber-man. The scientist with the implanted computer chip. A tiny lump is all that gives it away. A wave of his digitally enhanced hand, and security doors magically open. Only he can operate his phone and only if he holds it in the hand fitted with the chip. But now, Dr. Mark Gasson is suffering a very 21st century malady. The first human to be infected with a computer virus.

Dr. Gasson: When the systems read my tags, the computer virus has actually appeared throughout the whole database. So it's actually replicated itself and copied it throughout the database. So any of these people that are using their swipe cards to access the building, the actual virus will be copied onto their card.

The cybernetics expert, at the University of Reading have the chip implanted in a minor operation. In future, your medical records could be stored like this. But the chips are vulnerable. Already many implanted devices like pacemakers, have on board computers that communicate with doctors. If they're corrupted by a virus, the consequences for patients could be fatal. And in the future, chips will be used even more widely. Perhaps even as memory upgrades for the brain. They too, could be scrambled by malicious computer code. Our bodies have been fighting biological viruses. But as man and machine merge, so computer viruses could prove a new threat to human health.

- You can have implants that sense brain wave patterns and converts them into signals used to operate electrical appliances.
- You can have an implant to act as an internal alarm clock that determines how much sleep you can get.
- You can have an implant to constantly monitor your body functions such as pulse, heart rate, sugar levels, and even make sure you always take your pills!

For the 20 million Americans who live with diabetes. Daily finger pricks are a painful part of life. Getting the proper glucose reading is critical in controlling your diabetes. There is now a group of biotech companies that say they can change the way diabetics can monitor their blood sugars with an implantable microchip like this one.

The chip is placed in the tissue and comes in contact with fluids in the body and the sensors react to the presence of particular compounds in these fluids, detect them and then send the information to the outside.

The FDA has approved of a kind of attachment for all types of pills. It's a tiny harmless transmitter, that will electronically register if you've taken your pill or not. It mixes with stomach acids and sends out a signal that you've indeed taken the pill. It's creators-it's inventors hope it might be used for seniors, who often forget to take their meds.

- You can have an implant to send an electrode to your brain to activate a former paralyzed muscle or limb.
- You can have an implant connected to the eye to provide sight for the blind.
- You can have an implant to extend human intelligence or memory.
- You can have an implant to save your life.

CNN Welcome to the Future

Now imagine a device that could tell them all they need to know about any medical condition you have in a matter of minutes at any hospital, anywhere in the world. Sound far fetched? It's closer than you think.

Dr Feldman: On a typical day patients come in with heart attacks strokes, major trauma, cancer patients and septic shock. You name it. We have it.

What might improve the odds for some of those patients at New Jersey's Hackensack University Medical Center is this..

That tiny chip that Dr. Joseph Feldman, head of the hospital's Trauma Unit holds in his hand. It's a Radio Frequency Identification or RFID tag. The same technology to tag animals to help reunite a pet with it's owner. RFID has now won Food & Drug Administration approval for use in humans.

Dr. Feldman: RFID technology is very attractive to emergency departments. It enables people to quickly identify, not only who the person is but what their medical history is. And what would normally take hours sometimes, take only a matter of minutes.

How does it work? With a wave of a wand. The Doctor reads a unique ID number that logs on to a central database to quickly access your medical history, surgical history, any medications you take, your allergies and blood type. Even an emergency contact. Sixty five American hospitals have agreed to implement the technology. And the company that makes the chip expects that number to grow to 200 by the end of the year.

You know if I have the chip I can travel all over the world. That would give me the freedom of living the life without bounds.”

Wow! Did you hear that? Your life could become so much more productive, if you'd just get the implant! I mean, come on, wouldn't it be constructive to get one now? And people again, that's exactly what they want you to think! They're preparing us to receive the actual Mark of the Beast right now!

But that's still not all. The 3rd way we know we're being conditioned right now to receive the actual Mark of the Beast under the guise of Convenience is the Protected Proof. You see folks, if only we'd get an implant, our lives will become so well protected, that we'll never have to worry about anything every again! Let's take a look at that so-called awesome possibility!

IMPLANTS WILL MAKE US MORE PROTECTED

- You can have an implant to track your car wherever you go and for theft purposes, and allow authorities to find unregistered vehicles.
- You can have an implant in your casino chips to make sure people don't cheat!
- You can have an implant in your towels so people can't steal them in hotels.
- You can have an implant in your luggage to ensure it's exact whereabouts.

- In fact, speaking of safety in airports, even passengers could get an implant on a bracelet that'll shock them "when they get out of line."

Fox News

Megan Kelley: Imagine showing up for your next flight at the airport and being handed a device, a little bracelet, that would serve as your boarding pass. It would track your lost luggage and it would also shock you with the same power as a taser if you get out of line. Well a top official at the Department of Homeland Security has expressed interest in these so-called safety bracelets. So is this really the future of air travel. And will passengers accept it?

EMD Technology
Electro-Muscular Disruption

The bracelets will allow crew member, using Radio Frequency transmitters to quickly and effectively subdue hijackers. The Electro-Muscular Disruption signal overrides the attackers central nervous system and will render the most elite and aggressive terrorists completely immobile for several minutes. This will allow the crew to subdue and handcuff that individual.

Kelley: Is it possible Neil, could we get to the point in air travel, where we have to put on a bracelet where the stewardess can shock us if we get out of line.

Neil: Yes, they did express an interest in this and apparently had a meeting with this one individual who has this one device. But if they ultimately ever do this, it's going to be quite different than what we're talking about today. And we may see actually these kinds of devices put on felons in order to get parole. People that are pedophiles so that it sets off an alarm if they get too close to a school. We may see all sorts of applications of this down the road.

- Hmm. Speaking of applications, maybe they're going to be working towards something more secure. And they are. You see, the only problem with these "security" bracelets is that you could lose them. So how about a more permanent solution like a chip? I mean, if it's good for the airport workers, it's good for us, right?

KENS 5 News Airport Employees

Metal detectors, liquid bans, random bag checks, as passengers we've come to expect tight security measures associated with flying. Soon, those measures will extend beyond those taking off to include those who never leave the airport. San Antonio International officials tell KENS 5 that Congress is putting into motion measures that will ensure Airport employees are subject to stricter security checks.

Selena Hernandez: Chris, right now, all airport employees must pass a Police and F.B.I. background check. Soon, those checks may include something a little more intrusive. Members of Congress are currently debating how to keep closer tabs on those who have access to secure areas. Meaning everyone from restaurant employees to airline mechanics could soon be subjected to more rigorous background checks. Under discussion- a check of an employee's credit history. A search of their bags and property before entering secured areas and perhaps the most extreme measure-the use of biometric readers for fingerprints and eyes, even possibly a chip implant.

- You can have an implant in your computer so know one can steal it.
- You can have an implant in your uniforms to help eliminate shortages and ensure you get back every garment you turn in.
- You can have an implant in your socks so you'll never lose them.
- You can have an implant in all library books to ensure penalties are paid and reduce theft.
- You can have implants in your skis to monitor your performance and manage safety.
- You can have an implant in your bike so that traffic lights could warn other motorists of your whereabouts.
- You can have an implant in trees to ensure their safety and prevent unlawful cutting, and hold data about it's location, size, and who cut it down.
- You can have an implant in your cactus so people won't steal them.
- You can have an implant in your pet to make sure it never gets lost.
- You can have an implant in your body to instantly find people involved in airplane crashes or other natural disasters.
- You can have an implant to instantly alert you if someone's body temperature has changed like from falling in water or in a fire.

- You can have an implant put on nuclear devices, machines, or dams to give advance notice of impending danger.
- You can have an implant put in businesses to instantly alert you of break-ins or tampering.
- You can have an implant to monitor and pinpoint missing livestock.
- You can have an implant to automatically monitor parolees and save money on prison costs.
- You can have an implant to find out if an Alzheimer patient has wandered off.
- You can have an implant to instantly locate a lost or abducted child. In fact, you might have to get one real soon, the moment you're born.

Heidi, the miniature Schnauzer, was found months after it disappeared because of an implanted microchip. With the Food and Drug Administration's blessings, hospitals prepare to implant the information filled VeriChip, under patient's skin to reduce errors.

Now it's on to the big party on South Beach, the chip is envisioned as the new age gold key to the VIP room.

You don't have to pull out your credit cards, your driver's licenses. You're part of a team. You're part of an elite family.

Instead of your credit card being scanned, YOU would be scanned.

The chip is currently the rage in clubs in Europe and implanting it, is currently free.

So simple. I think that within 20 years, when you get born, you will get a chip."

Wow! Sounds like the convenience factor is paying off big time, how about you? I mean, who wouldn't want to have their loved ones and property protected at all times, and of course make financial transactions as well?

Wouldn't it be common sense to get a microchip implant? And that's precisely what they want you to think! Recognize the days we live in. Don't be a hypocrite! They're preparing us right now to receive the Mark of the Beast, which means, we are about to see the Return of Jesus Christ!

And folks, again, this is why, out of love, God has given us these signs of the Mark of the Beast, to show us that the Tribulation is near, Christ's 2nd Coming is rapidly approaching. And that's why Jesus Himself this:

Luke 21:28 "When these things begin to take place, stand up and lift up your heads, because your redemption is drawing near."

Folks, like it, lump it, leave it or not, we are headed for The Final Countdown. This is not bad news, this is Good News! Jesus is coming back to get us! And so the point is this. If you're a Christian here today it's time to get busy! We've got to lay aside our differences and start getting busy working together saving souls by the Spirit of God! Amen?

But if you're here today and you're not a Christian, then I beg you, please, heed the signs...heed the warnings...give your life to Jesus now. That CHIP is about here, and it's going to be your absolute worst nightmare! And so if God is tugging at your heart today, you need to respond today! Don't scoff and don't put it off! Interpret the signs! Don't be a hypocrite! Learn the parable of the fig tree! That's what Jesus said!

Matthew 24:32-35 “Now learn this lesson from the fig tree: As soon as its twigs get tender and its leaves come out, you know that summer is near. Even so, when you see all these things, you know that it is near, right at the door. I tell you the truth, this generation will certainly not pass away until all these things have happened. Heaven and earth will pass away, but My words will never pass away.”

In other words, you can take Jesus' Word's to the bank! It's going to happen! He is coming back...soon! And that's why He's warning you to not die in your hypocrisy! Own up to the facts, admit it, it's really happening, like it, lump it, or leave it, and reach out and take His hand, and receive His mercy, and get saved before it's too late. Amen?

To find the way to God, to understand the truth of God's Word, and to received the gift of eternal life, begin by repentance and faith through a prayer like this:

“Dear God, I understand that I have broken Your Law and sinned against You. Please forgive my sins. Thank You that Jesus suffered on the cross in my place. I now place my trust in Him as My Savior and Lord. In Jesus' name I pray. Amen.”
